Driven by service. Powered by trust.

At Apex Transportation Logistics LLC, we bring decades of transportation and logistics experience to every load we handle.

Our owner has been in the industry for more than 65 years. He and his wife previously owned Scott Logistics Corp, which they successfully sold to FLS in 2019. Shortly afterward, he founded Manco Logistics Corp, which he successfully built and then sold in 2025.

Today, our team collectively brings more than 50 years of industry experience to Apex.

We understand that our carriers are a critical part of our success. That's why we believe strong, lasting relationships are built on communication, trust, reliability, and doing what's right.

When you choose to work with Apex Transportation Logistics LLC, you're working with a team that understands the transportation industry from the ground up. We know the challenges carriers face, we value your time, and we believe in treating you the way we would want to be treated.

Our commitment is simple: Communicate. Follow through. Do what's right.

If you choose Apex, we'll always do our best to earn your trust and be the kind of logistics team you want to work with again and again.
